CHARACTERISTICS OF DEGREE PROGRAMME

General and specific learning objectives

The post-graduate degree programme in International Relations aims to provide a highly qualified learning programme in the political, legal, economic and historical disciplines. Particular attention is given to the development of the graduate's understanding of the international framework of political, economic and social phenomena. The programme is therefore characterised by a multi-disciplinary and open approach to international issues.

Expected learning outcomes

Curr A-Acquisition of an advanced preparation in the juridical, economic, political and historical disciplines with an international vocation, through an authentically multidisciplinary approach and a plurality of methodological tools. The students' ability to contextualize and analyze the phenomena inherent to international relations is thus progressively developed.

Acquisition of skills such as critical analysis, ability to predict scenarios and define behavioral strategic lines, elaboration of execution models of designed policies in operational contexts of national and supranational nature. Similar activities are developed with particular regard to the management of phenomena inherent to foreign policy and international cooperation, especially in the fields of economics, of environment and in trade and military conflicts, to the functioning of international governmental and non-governmental organizations in the political, strategic, economic and financial field.

The expected learning outcomes are achieved and verified through several teaching tools such as lectures, practical classes, seminars, group works and professionalizing workshops. The assessment of knowledge and comprehension abilities takes place through presentations in class, written or oral exams with the common objective of verifying the possession of the indicated skills.

CURR. B-Development of an advanced legal-economic preparation, with reference to transnational commercial and financial relations both inside and outside the European Union, through analytical tools related to the economy and the law of European integration, to economy and financial markets, international contracts and arbitration, single market and competition. Consequent acquisition of critical assessment skills (through a legal and economic approach) of subjects and transactions typical of international trade.

On the basis of the advanced legal-economic skills developed, acquisition (i) of design skills, definition and execution of strategies of commercial and financial content compatible with the legal context, (ii) of the ability to understand the behavior of commercial partners and institutional representatives, within companies oriented to foreign trade or other institutions active in the international trade and in the finance sector. Such skills are developed considering the functions inherent to the organization, regulation and monitoring of these bodies, or the intermediation among them.

The expected learning outcomes are achieved and verified through several teaching tools such as lectures, practical classes, seminars, group works and professionalizing workshops. The assessment of knowledge and comprehension abilities takes place through presentations in class, written or oral exams with the common objective of verifying the possession of the indicated skills.

CURR C-Development of advanced political, historical-cultural, economic and juridical skills that allow students to deepen their knowledge of regionalization processes and the specific features of the main regional geopolitical arenas of the international system, together with the analysis of the dynamics of political and economic globalization. This on a diplomatic and strategic alignments level, in terms of the establishment of regional international institutions, of the dynamics of convergence and economic integration and finally of the formation of local political identities, cultures and languages. Acquisition of design skills and implementation of foreign and international, economic and legal policy strategies on the basis of the multidisciplinary skills developed. Such abilities are to be developed within national and international public institutions, think tanks, research institutions and advisors.

Professional profile and employment opportunities

Career-wise, the International Relations graduates acquire the knowledge that allows them to pursue careers in international and supranational organizations as well as in diplomacy, in national and multinational companies active in foreign trade, in public and private institutions active in the field of development cooperation, and in national and supranational financial institutions.

EXPERIENCE OF STUDY ABROAD AS PART OF THE TRAINING PROGRAM

The University of Milan supports international mobility by providing its students with the opportunity to spend study and internship periods abroad. It is a unique chance to enrich your educational path in a new exciting environment.

The agreements entered into by the University with over 300 universities from the 27 EU member countries and other Extra-EU countries under the European Erasmus+ programme allow regularly enrolled students to carry out part of their studies at one of the partner universities or to undertake internships at companies, training and research centres and other organizations.

Similar international mobility opportunities are provided outside Europe, through agreements with a number of prestigious institutions.

Study and internships abroad

In light of its international focus, the Master's degree programme in International Relations provides enrolled students with a wide range of options, in terms of foreign institutions where they may follow part of their studies and take exams, in the context of the Erasmus+ Programme. Erasmus+ funded scholarships may be available.

The Department of International, Legal, Historical and Political Studies (DILHPS) – which is responsible for the Master's degree – collaborates with several partner Universities in France, Spain, Eastern Europe (mainly the Czech Republic, Poland and Lithuania), as well as in Germany, Denmark, Belgium, Norway and the United Kingdom. Moreover, thanks to specific arrangements with some Turkish Universities, students will have the chance to experience life and study in a stimulating cross-cultural environment.

While staying in a partner University, students will be able to pursue their studies, in particular in the fields of International Relations, International and Comparative Law, Public and Private Law, History of International Relations and Politics.

The procedure for the recognition of exams taken abroad consists of two phases: a) before the student leaves, a 'Learning Agreement' will identify the courses that he is authorized to take abroad on the basis of the student's preferences and subject to the agreement of each Professor; b) upon the student's return, the University of Milan will recognize the exams included in the 'Transcript of Records' provided by the partner University and convert the grades received by the student.

How to participate in Erasmus mobility programs

How to participate in Erasmus+ mobility programmes

The students of the University of Milan can participate in mobility programmes, through a public selection procedure.

Ad hoc commissions will evaluate:

- Academic career
- the candidate's proposed study programme abroad
- his/her foreign language proficiency
- the reasons behind his/her application

Call for applications and informative meetings

The public selection generally begins around February each year with the publication of a call for applications specifying the destinations, with the respective programme duration (from 2/3 to 12 months), requirements and online application deadline.

Every year, before the deadline for the call, the University organizes informative meetings to illustrate opportunities and rules for participation to students.

Erasmus+ scholarship

The European Union grants the winners of the Erasmus+ programme selection a scholarship to contribute to their mobility costs, which is supplemented by the University funding for disadvantaged students.

Language courses

Students who pass the selections for mobility programmes can benefit from intensive foreign language courses offered each year by the University.
