CHARACTERISTICS OF DEGREE PROGRAMME

General and specific learning objectives

The degree programme in Philosophy aims to provide students with a sound basic knowledge of the essential developments of the history of philosophical and scientific thought, the different articulations of philosophical research and the related critical-methodological aspects.

In the first two years, the programme focusses on the achievements of the established research schools of the University of Milan. These are characterised by rigorous historical-philosophical study; by special attention to contemporary theoretical, moral and aesthetic problems; by the evolution of analytic inquiry in logic, in the philosophies of sciences and of language.

Given its eminently interdisciplinary nature, which is typical of philosophy, the degree programme expects students to develop their studies in the third year, having received adequate philosophical training, and drawing directly on other areas of humanistic and scientific culture, integrating the development of cultural and professional knowledge and skills, useful for those who do not continue their studies towards a Master?s Degree.

Expected learning outcomes

Knowledge and understanding:

The degree programme aims to ensure the acquisition of specific cognitive and understanding skills with reference both to the historical development of philosophical knowledge and concepts, and the various forms of philosophical problematisation in the theoretical, moral, political, aesthetic, logical epistemological and linguistic fields. It also enables to achieve, together with adequate ability to read and understand texts through the use of appropriate referencing tools, a sufficient command of terminology and methods for the analysis of problems and of the different methods of argumentation of philosophical discourse.

The basic and core learning activities in their disciplinary articulation are primarily aimed at these purposes, and include the attendance of specific dedicated courses:

- the development of philosophical tradition, of the most significant themes and authors, and the main methodological aspects of historical-philosophical research;

- knowledge of the fundamental lexicon of philosophical disciplines;

- the concepts and theoretical structures of philosophical knowledge as a research on foundations;

- the theoretical assumptions elaborated by philosophical thought, also in relation to other areas of scientific research, as to perception, the elements constructing the image of reality and the senses and meanings woven into the same;

- ethical and value-oriented problems, also with respect to the most sensitive issues of the contemporary cultural debate;

- philosophical reflections on the mathematical and natural sciences and on the relationships they have with other forms of knowledge and culture;

- the logical structures of thought, the theories of language and the different forms of expression and argumentation;

This knowledge is gained through basic and core disciplinary subjects.

Alongside these specific and primary elements, the degree programme provides a broader education, with an eye to the multiple dimensions and traditions of cultural debate, and to professionalization requirements. This dual perspective allows the BA?s students to integrate their learning with knowledge relating to the historical, demo-ethno-anthropological, psychological, sociological, pedagogical and human sciences disciplines. These subjects, on the one hand, represent the obvious corresponding complements of philosophical learning, and on the other hand offer the necessary career and employment skills that are traditionally important for graduates in Philosophy.

With regard to this second area linked to cultural and professional development, students will hone their knowledge and understanding through for-credit courses in core subjects as well as germane subjects. The acquisition of knowledge is tested through exams, which aim to enhance the student's work.

Ability to apply knowledge and understanding:

Graduates in Philosophy will be able to apply the above-mentioned knowledge and skills both in defining problems related to their learning, and in elaborating appropriate arguments, and finally in identifying the development and problem-solving processes. The main methods of acquisition of said skills and of those stated in the following points are the above-mentioned disciplinary courses, seminars, laboratories dedicated to core and professionalising activities, in addition to studies aimed at preparing the final paper for graduation. These learning steps require corresponding testing steps aimed at evaluating the acquisition of these skills: exams, laboratories attendance, which encourage students to play active roles, the relationship with the supervisor during the preparation of the final paper.

Professional profile and employment opportunities

The programme provides the transferable and metacognitive skills useful for the professions in the fields of communication, in the publishing industry, in the management of cultural processes and in the development and management of human resources.

Initial knowledge required

Admission requirements

Applicants to the degree programme must have a high-school diploma or an equivalent qualification obtained abroad. Moreover, they must prove adequate general knowledge, written comprehension, Italian language proficiency and logical reasoning skills, as provided by secondary school. The student's educational background will be assessed as set forth in the call for applications.

Admission assessment

Admission to the programme is subject to a mandatory, non-selective self-assessment test. The University uses the TOLC-SU test administered by the Cisia Consortium.

Additional learning requirements (OFA) and remedial coursework

Students who decide to enrol with a score below the threshold will have to follow a remedial course in order to meet statutory additional learning requirements (OFA). Should they fail remedial assessments, their academic career will be halted at the end of year I.

For information on any waivers from the TOLC-SU requirement, please refer to the call for applications.

You can find useful information on OFA remedial coursework in the dedicated section of the degree programme website: https://filosofia.cdl.unimi.it/en/courses/additional-learning-requirements-ofa

Compulsory attendance

Course attendance is recommended, though not required. Workshop attendance is mandatory.

Part-time enrolment and part-time attendance

The timeframe to pursue a degree for students electing part-time status cannot exceed twice the normal timeframe for the study programme in which they are enrolling, and must fall within the following timeframes depending on the chosen path: Bachelor's degree programme (statutory full-time length: 3 years)

Academic path to be completed in:

6 years for students enrolled in year I of the programme

5 years for students enrolled in year II of the programme

4 years for students enrolled in year III of the programme

3 years for students enrolled in year I, II or III off track

Learn more at https://www.unimi.it/en/study/bachelor-and-master-study/fees-and-how-pay-them/part-time-enrolment

Degree programme final exams

The final exam consists of writing and defending a paper that proves the candidate has achieved the study programme's learning objectives. This work may be an analysis and commentary of one or more texts, a discussion of a certain topic, the analysis of a process or case, a study of theoretical-scientific aspects of one of the subjects studied by the candidate. The final paper is worth 6 credits (CFU). The topic of the paper will be agreed with your supervisor. There is no co-supervisor. The graduation application may only be submitted upon agreement with the supervisor. The final paper can award up to 6 points towards the degree mark. The scoring criteria cover the quality of the presentation, the analysis, the methods, and the organization of the paper. The committee may award honours unanimously. The paper may be written in any EU language studied under the programme. Learn how to write the final paper, and more, in the guidelines posted to the degree programme website: https://filosofia.cdl.unimi.it/en/study/graduating

The final paper will be checked for originality and plagiarism. In case of plagiarism, the student will be required to produce a new original version of the text. If a paper is submitted for assessment against the supervisor's advice and instructions, and plagiarism is suspected, the supervisor will formally report the offense, pursuant to art. 52 of the General Regulations of the University (Infringements and Disciplinary Sanctions).

Notes

In order to obtain their degree, students must be proficient in English at a B1 level under the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). This proficiency level may be certified as follows:

- Through a language certificate, earned within three years prior to the date of submission, at a B1 level or higher. For the list of language certificates recognised by the University, please review: https://www.unimi.it/en/node/297/). The certificate must be uploaded during the enrolment procedure, or subsequently to the portal http://studente.unimi.it/uploadCertificazioniLingue;

- Through a Placement Test, which is delivered by the University Language Centre (SLAM) during year I only, from October to December. Students who fail the test will be required to take a SLAM course.

The Placement Test is mandatory for all students who do not hold a valid certificate.

Those who do not sit the Placement Test by December, or who fail to pass the end-of-course test within six attempts, must obtain a paid certificate by graduation.

Computer skills

Students who are supposed to earn 3 credits (CFU) for basic computer skills, as provided by their degree programme, have to attend the "Computer Science Course 3CFU".

It is a blended course with a compulsory final exam.

The first exam session is scheduled for January, and more will follow according to a calendar to be made available on the course delivery platform.

The award of any transfer credits for previously earned IT skills certificates is subject to evaluation. Find out how to apply at: https://www.unimi.it/en/node/16823/ (Alternative activities section).

The "Computer Science Course 3CFU" course is managed by the CTU - Teaching and Learning Innovation and Multimedia Technology Centre.

EXPERIENCE OF STUDY ABROAD AS PART OF THE TRAINING PROGRAM

The University of Milan supports international mobility by providing its students with the opportunity to spend study and internship periods abroad. It is a unique chance to enrich your educational path in a new exciting environment.

The agreements entered into by the University with over 300 universities from the 27 EU member countries under the European Erasmus+ programme allow regularly enrolled students to carry out part of their studies at one of the partner universities or to undertake internships at companies, training and research centres and other organizations.

Similar international mobility opportunities are provided outside Europe, through agreements with a number of prestigious institutions.

Study and internships abroad

The Degree Programme in Philosophy places great importance on international student mobility as an opportunity for learning enhancement and promotes stay abroad experiences as part of our University mobility programmes.

The degree programme tutor for international student mobility promotes the active participation of students in the programmes offered and provides educational assistance to selected students.

The tutor follows all the phases of international student mobility:

- urges the active participation of students on all locations and for all languages, advertises the Erasmus agreements and introduces them in dedicated meetings

- after the selection, receives the students individually to discuss the Learning Agreements and provides assistance, via email, during their stay abroad, taking care of any changes. Reductions or extensions of the stay may be authorized for study, health, economic reasons.

The selection interviews are conducted by a special panel of professors from the Department.

Current international agreements are available at the following link: https://www.unimi.it/en/international/university-milan-world/international-agreements

How to participate in Erasmus mobility programs

The students of the University of Milan can participate in mobility programmes, through a public selection procedure.

Ad hoc commissions will evaluate:

Academic career

- the candidate's proposed study programme abroad
- his/her foreign language proficiency
- the reasons behind his/her application

Call for applications and informative meetings

The public selection for Erasmus+ mobility for study generally begins around February each year with the publication of a call for applications specifying destinations and requirements. Regarding the Erasmus+ Mobility for Traineeship, the University of Milan usually publishes two calls a year enabling students to choose a destination defined by an inter-institutional agreement or to find a traineeship position on their own.

The University organizes informative meetings to illustrate mobility opportunities and rules for participation.

Erasmus+ scholarship

The European Union grants the winners of the Erasmus+ programme selection a scholarship to contribute to their mobility costs, which may be supplemented by the University funding for disadvantaged students.

Language courses

ſ

Students who pass the selections for mobility programmes can benefit from intensive foreign language courses offered each year by the University Language Centre (SLAM). https://www.unimi.it/en/node/8/
